

PI CHAPTER OF ALPHA EPSILON STATE

DELTA KAPPA GAMMA SOCIETY INTERNATIONAL

Volume 8 Issue 4

February 2014

We all missed it ...

The December Pi Chapter meeting had to be cancelled due to the weather. It was so disappointing to miss our holiday gathering and to postpone the initiation of our new members; however, the safety of our members was the executive board's primary concern in deciding to cancel. As a result, the agenda from the December meeting will now be combined with the February agenda. The result will be a fast-moving, full morning that we will still allow us to accomplish the agenda within the normal time frame for our meetings. We will be voting on the slate presented by the Nominations Committee of new officers for the next biennium. Please note that the initiation will begin at 10:00 a.m. and will be followed by the business meeting and program.

Ivy Tech Community College, Room 119, 3501 N 1st Ave
Registration and Light Breakfast: 9:30-10:00 A.M.
Initiation, Business Meeting, and Program: 10:00-11:30 A.M.
Program: "Go Red for Women" presentation about heart disease in women Cost: $6

February meeting has a full agenda.

Saturday, February 15, 2014

The February 15 meeting will also mark our 70th birthday for Pi Chapter! Let's make every effort to attend this multipurpose event.

President's Message

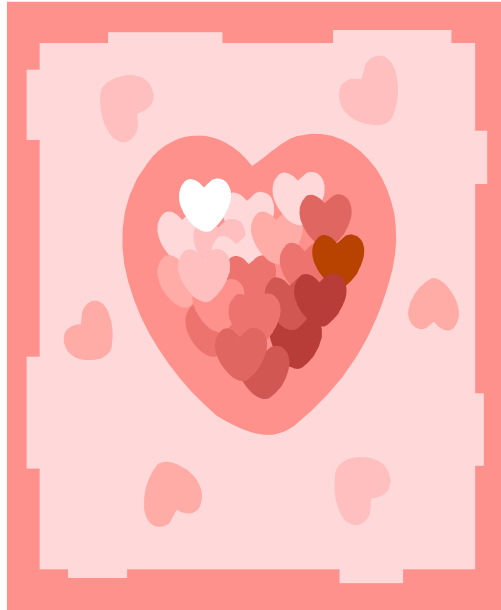

"Now is the winter of our discontent, . . ." The opening line from Shakespeare's Richard III was not a comment on Yorkshire's weather but on King Richard. Shakespeare created the malevolent portrait of Richard as a plot device; however, history showed King Richard, in many ways, to be a forward-looking, enlightened monarch. The line has a literal application to the difficult winter we are having in Indiana but also a figurative application to school corporations, churches, and businesses humbled by the arctic vortex and snow. Like history's Richard, let's be forward-thinking and enlightened and think spring!

International News

The DKG News announced the nominees for the 2014 election in the Jan/Feb issue. Women from across the globe have stepped up to lead Delta Kappa Gamma International. State presidents will vote for the international positions at the international convention in Indianapolis July 28 to August 1, 2014. DKG News also includes a tentative schedule for the convention and a registration form.
